MEN'S CLASS SUBJECTS

Dr. Allen Barker

Pastoring A Struggling Church

Some important things to consider include common causes of church decline such as spiritual stagnation, declining attendance or finances, leadership conflict, and loss of vision. Other key factors include gaining trust before implementing change, leading through resistance, addressing past wounds and unresolved conflict, and restoring trust within the congregation.

Dr. Ricky Dunsford

Church Missions Procedures

A practical course designed to equip churches with a clear understanding of how missions are organized, approved, and supported. We will learn missionary selection and endorsement, financial accountability, communication, and partnership with missionaries, practical tools and best practices to ensure missions efforts are effective, ethical, and aligned with the church.

Pastor David Gamble

Special Needs Ministry

The purpose of this lesson is to help individuals and groups understand the heart, principles, and practicalities of Special Needs Ministry in a church or ministry settings. This includes a focus on inclusion, support, and providing opportunities for spiritual growth for individuals with disabilities.

Legalism vs Liberalism

Helping students understand the dangers of both extremes. Learn how to uphold biblical truth without compromising biblical standards. Defining legalism and liberalism from a biblical perspective and the dangers and consequences of each extreme.

Pastor Ricky Gravley

Balancing Ministry

Understanding God's call and assignment, ordering priorities biblically, ministry duties, avoiding the trap of overcommitment, identifying time wasters and distractions, planning and scheduling wisely, knowing personal limits, and setting healthy boundaries between church and home.

Project Management

This lesson introduces the fundamentals of project management and equips participants with practical tools to plan, organize, execute, and complete projects effectively. Emphasis is placed on clear communication, wise stewardship of resources, teamwork, and accountability. Understand the basic phases of project management, planning projects with clear goals, timelines and responsibilities, and using resources effectively.

Dr. Tim Green

Evangelism

It is vital to the life and spiritual health of the local church. In this course, we will learn how to prepare the church for revival services, including 30 Days to Revival, with detailed guidance for each step leading up to the first day of revival and continuing beyond it.

When The Arrow Lands Beyond You

How to deal with negative solutions to interpersonal problems. With fellow preachers, parishioners or prodigals. Taken from the life & relationship between David & Jonathan.

Pastor Ray Haskett

Practical Pastoral Care

When we get formal training for ministry, it helps us to prepare for our study of the Bible. We learn valuable information from the wisdom God has given to professors who have unique abilities to teach us things we need to know about the Bible. As we all know, there are some things we do not learn in college, but we gain from personal experience and the experience of others. Some of the greatest lessons come from the practical side of ministry. These things are not new, but a refresher on motivating us to be more effective in the ministry God has called us. It is the intent of this class to touch on some of the practical areas of ministry.

Pastor Matt Hudson

Saul and David

The Life of David - God took him from following the ewes, to guiding mighty men! (Psalms 78:70-72) The course will give practical lessons from David's life in contrast and comparison to Saul's life.

Pastor Michael Poindexter

The Role of a Pastor's Wife

What exactly are the responsibilities of a minister's wife? Opinions vary but what does the Bible say? Answering that question relieves many ministry wives from unrealistic and even unscriptural expectations.

Navigating Landmines in Ministry

Stepping on a landmine can be damaging if not deadly. The ministry has several landmines and learning how to navigate them may keep us from becoming a casualty.

Pastor David Sexton

Keeping a Sound Mind

Ministry comes with pressures, long hours, high expectations, constant demands for attention, and emotional exhaustion which can lead the preacher to burnout. Ministry is demanding, and as a result preachers often neglect their own health and wellbeing. Recognizing and acknowledging these challenges is the first step toward maintaining sanity. The aim of this lesson is to equip preachers with practical tools and strategies to maintain mental, emotional, and spiritual health while serving in the high-demand environment of ministry.

Pastor Randy Sutherland

Honoring the Past, Leading the Future

Spiritual mentors play an invaluable role in shaping the next generation of leadership in churches, in ministries, and in Israel's case, an entire nation. Joshua had the privilege of following a great leader, not an obligation to replace him. Transition can be challenging. We will look at Joshua's Relationship, Respect and Reward for waiting on Moses, while waiting on God.

LADIES' CLASS SUBJECTS

Mrs. Jan Barker

Dealing with Difficult People

Dealing with difficult people can be very challenging. But, as always, God gives direction in His Word. How can we deal with difficult people without going to jail? Whooping them with a Nerf ball bat won't hurt them but it sure might make you feel better!

A Worthy Calling

The ministry is a worthy calling. Let us not be weary in well doing but rather be encouraged to remain faithful to this great ministry God has allowed us to be a part of.

Dr. Peggy Ellis

A Place of Prayer

When Jesus prayed in the Garden of Gethsemane, His sweat became as great drops of blood because of the burden He carried to redeem humanity. We will examine Jesus' prayer life, His burden, and His care for others as revealed in Scripture, and then make practical applications for our own prayer lives.

Mrs. Renee Gamble

Loving Him Through It All Learning to love and trust God consistently during joy, pain, success, and struggle. Loving God is not based on circumstances. We must recognize that trials can deepen our faith. Loving God isn't just about the good seasons in life, it's about faithfulness in every season. Loving God involves trust, obedience, and commitment. It emphasizes the importance of balance, communication, mutual respect, and shared spiritual growth to ensure both the personal and ministry aspects of their lives thrive.

Faith Over Fear. Faith helps us trust God even when we are overtaken with fear. Our fears may be real, but they don't have to control us. Fear does not mean weak faith and exercising faith doesn't mean fear disappears. Courage often comes after we act, not before. Learn how faith helps us face our fears instead of avoiding them.

Mrs. Nolita Gravley

Project Management

Stewarding God's work with prayerful planning, wise leadership, and faithful execution. Seeking the Lord first, organizing people and resources responsibly, and carrying out ministry tasks in a way that honors Him. Rather than relying solely on human ability, faith-based project management depends on God's guidance, values, order, and excellence, with the goal of glorifying Him.

Dealing with Emotions

Allowing God to shape our hearts through His Word, helping us respond with grace, self-control, and faith.

---

Mrs. Johanna Hudson

Leading Hurting People

All of our lives have been touched by pain. Let's look at ways we can grow through that pain so we can help lead others who are hurting.

Encouraging Your Missionaries

Missionaries and their children face unique challenges. We are given opportunities to encourage them along the way. We will look at practical ways to be a blessing to them.

Ms. Glenda McNeese

Supporting Your Husband

Ministry as a husband and wife is not just about the husband. It takes both to make it work. What can a wife do to help her husband be as successful and productive as possible? The Bible has the answer.

Co-Laborers & Friends in Ministry

Working together in ministry is not always easy. Someone has to be in charge, and sometimes issues must be addressed. How can we do that without destroying relationships? Let's look into God's Word for the answer.

Mrs. Rikki Beth Poindexter

Expectations of a Pastor's Wife

As a pastor's wife, we can allow spoken and unspoken expectations from others to either drive us or crush us. We must be sure that any expectations placed on us come from the Lord

Balancing Personal Life & Ministry

We benefit everyone around us when we maintain balance between home and ministry life. When we are out of balance, we can drive everyone crazy. Let's look at some warning signs that show we may be out of balance and discover how to keep a healthy grip on both.

Mrs. Heather Sexton

Keeping Your Sanity

In today's fast paced world, ministry often brings significant stress and responsibility. God promises His servant a sound mind rooted in His peace. This lesson explores how to cultivate that sound mind while navigating the realities of the ministry.

Personality Conflicts

Because ministry involves working closely with people, conflict is inevitable. Responding to conflict as Christ did is essential to sustaining peace, effectiveness and long-term success in the ministry.

Mrs. Amy Sutherland

Honoring Past Leadership & Leading the Future

Serving as a successor while your mentor is still living can present unique challenges. Romans 13:7 reminds us to give honor to whom honor is due. Respectfully acknowledging and preserving the rightful place of those who have paved the way, while faithfully leading toward the future, is vital for a healthy and effective ministry transition.
